District Scout Council Meeting Held

A district council meeting was held on April 18, 1958, in Pincher Creek. In attendance were Mr. Powie, Mr. Grey, Mr. Weekes, Mr. Ross, Mr. Tucker, Mr. Graham, Mr. Graham, Mrs. Preece, Mr. McLean, Mr. White, Mr. Salus, Mr. Symanick and Mr. Corny.

District Commissioner Mr. Weekes opened the meeting with "The Lord's Prayer" and turned the meeting over to Mr. Powie, president, who in turn asked Mr. Grey, secretary, to read the minutes of the last meeting. After these were read and adopted, group committee reports were given by Mr. Salus and Mrs. D. Graham.

Mr. Salus commended Mr. Weekes for his interest in our groups, having visited Coleman several times giving our leaders and boys encouragement. Mrs. Graham reported with the usual cry of all the group committees — more leaders. Their group had a successful bake sale, proceeds of which were to be used for hall repairs.

Mr. Weekes mentioned that the District Judge was still not decided on and with a deadline for approval set for May 3, he was in time for Banff Jamboree July 5-12. Since several designs had been turned in by Jim Green, a motion was made by Mrs. Ross to ask the boy to do a crest similar to specifications — representing Pincher-Crows Nest district — then have the crest inspected by Mr. Weekes and Mr. Tucker, then passed on to headquarters. This was seconded by Bill Corny.

A letter was read by Mr. Powie from the Provincial Council giving an account of each district's dues up to 1958. A letter will be written by Mr. Grey to the Council for a break-down on the arrears.

A short talk was given by Mr. Weekes on the Banff Jamboree, for which nine Scouts, three leaders volunteered. He mentioned that at least one troop should represent the Pass. Registrations will be allowed to come in late.

The How Island report was given by Mr. Weekes which saw demonstrations, drills executed to a packed auditorium on March 29.

Attending were Scoutmasters, Cubmasters, Commissioners, group committee members, the provincial council members, and headquarters personnel. The entire conference was under the capable hands of Mr. Ron Vincent, Field Commissioner of Lethbridge.

Mr. Weekes was the lone representative of the Pincher Creek-Crows Nest district.

Several weeks ago at the Waterton camp, Mr. DeCocco and Mr. Weekes, along with troops from Pincher Creek, Barons, Counts, Staveley, Cardston, Mountain View, Milk River, Waterton, How Island and Warner attended a winter camping contest, and great praise came from Mr. Weekes and Mr. Tucker, Pincher Creek Scoutmaster, on compass reading and handling of equipment. The Barons troop took the Senator Buchanan trophy with the highest marks.

Mr. Powie thanked Mr. Weekes for his interesting talk and a round of applause showed the group's interest.

Mr. Weekes then asked for a possible Badge Secretary, who would look after all orders from this district for badges and certificates, so that some of the mailing charges and possible loss of badges be eliminated.

Dates to look forward to: August 4-9, Cub Leaders camp at Sylvan Lake.

November 15, Queen Scout ceremony at Raymond.

Teeth World Jamboree in the Philippines in 1959. Two troops are expected to attend from Canada.

A motion was made by Mr. Salus to adjourn after the place and date was set for the next meeting—June 20 at Coleman.

A lovely lunch was served by Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Preece which had been prepared by mothers of the Cubs and Scouts.

The Crows Nest Pass Bowling playoffs will be held this week at Albert's Bowling.

Teams entering the playoffs are: Richard Chernecky's Spunkies, Richard Symanick's Zeros, and Gordon Dunford's team.

After the evening service of worship, a Friendly Hour will be held. It will feature the music of the Crows Nest Pass string orchestra under the direction of W. H. Moser. Mrs. F. Dykes will recite two solos. The music will be of an appropriate character for Sunday prayer.

This Friendly Hour is open to the public and there will be no charge of any kind. This will begin at 8:30 p.m.

True Stories From Salvation Army Files

A New Start With a New Faith

He had been released from an Industrial Farm a short time before and had walked mile after mile, seeking work. He was weary and his steps were not as true or brisk as they might have been. It was his weariness that led to his arrest.

In "drunks court" the Major pleaded the man's case, confirming his testimony that he had not tasted liquor since being released. The Judge was kind and allowed him to go free — under the Major's care.

At the welfare office Mr. X received advice, food and rent orders. (He had found a job but would not be paid for two weeks). Prayer was offered and Mr. X heard and was moved by the earnest petition to God to keep him strong.

It was a day or so later, Mrs. X sought out the Major — she had come to express gratitude for saving her husband from further imprisonment and utter discouragement. Mrs. X told the Officer that, although her husband had been an atheist, the Major's prayer and practical Christianity had led to his belief in God, as Saviour. They both wanted to attend Church and desired to send their children to Sunday School.

It made the Major happy to know Mr. X had obtained a new start and had found a new Faith.

"A New International Army"

The international character of The Army's endeavor to win the lost is illustrated by this incident in a small town in Alberta, arid, oil-bearing prairie district.

Six Salvationists on a cold Saturday night held an open-air meeting outside a bar room. A young man emerged, passed crude comments, brushed aside the Lieutenant's attempts to speak to him, but did not walk away. He was a one-time Christian from Australia, had commenced wrong-doing, but everywhere he travelled The Salvation Army reminded him of former happiness. In an attempt to escape from his conscience and God, he asked his firm to send him to a lonely spot.

"This is my first Saturday night on that job, my first visit to town," he said. "I step out of a pub and find six of you standing in the snow — My God! how big is this Army? Is there no escape?"

Next day he attended a Salvation Army meeting and made his peace with God. Part of his prayer was "Oh, God, I thank you for the length of the Army's Mercy Seat."

St. Alban's Church Hold Confirmation

On Sunday, April 30, The Order of Confirmation was conducted in St. Alban's Anglican Church by the Rt. Rev. G. R. Calvert, Bishop of Calgary.

The following candidates were presented by the Rector and received the Laying on of Hands: Miss Grace Pawlyk, Miss Janice Park, Miss Barbara Blake, Miss Diane Sikina, Miss Ellen Bradley, Mrs. E. Hanson, George Kerr, John Kerr, George Brown, and William Kemp.

A four-leaf clover is considered lucky because its four leaves form a cross.

"Night of Plays" Well Received In Coleman

An enthusiastic and appreciative crowd was on hand to witness the annual "Night of Plays", presented by the Coleman High School Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

The entertainment featured three one-act plays, which showed the usual talent and hard work complementary to the Coleman High School.

The first play was entitled "Nevada Trust a Man" and provided the audience with a hilarious sample of the evening's presentations.

The cast included Vanda Goss as the "mother" and Elina Stochmoff as "Rose", the innocent victim of two kossips, "Aunt Hattie" and "Lauretta".

Beverly Bond as Aunt Hattie stole the show, giving a fine performance as the sniping malicious cynic. Cynthia Bond was cast as Lauretta. Terry Mraz played the part of "Betty", the young sister who couldn't keep a secret and Donna Gentle acted the part of "Sally", Betty's best friend.

Director for the first play was Yvonne Grubisich, with Terry Mraz as assistant director.

The second play was the most hilarious of the three, making it hard at times for the entertainers to keep a straight face.

The play was called "Grandma Flies Things", and cast Caron Johnson in the title role of "Grandma". Her performance was very good as she dominated most of the scene.

Grannie's daughter, Mrs. Preston, a socially ambitious woman, was played by Moira Smales; Lenore Preston, her daughter, and played by Eleanor Raymond, was being rushed into a marriage of convenience by her mother, but did not have the power to resist.

The young teenage brother David Preston, was played by John Talbot. An excellent performance was given by LeRoy Fuller in the role of Brockton Baker, the only son of a wealthy, socially prominent family. Barry Collins, the true love of Lenore was played by Charles.

The make-up department was ably handled by Darlene Korman, Gloria Fraser, Sheila Clarke, Donalda Olivia and Sandra Holyk.

The Coleman High School is to be complimented for this fine presentation which shows that Coleman students are receiving well-rounded education.

Mr. Parker who also did a superb job as a female impersonator of the maid.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker were played by Gordon Nelson and Sharon Kilgannon.

The casting in this play was excellent and each performer portrayed their roles like veterans. Director was Mr. Allan, high school principal, with assistant director, Barbara Krish.

The final one-act play of the evening was entitled "Yesterday's Return", and centered around a wealthy old man, William Weaver, played by John Cousins. Star of the play, though, was Ann Kerr, who gave a superb performance as Miss Stanley, the unfriendly old maid secretary, who after 30 years of service was bent on inheriting his estate.

Miss Doyle, the receptionist, was played by Ann Wesko, and the lawyer "Mr. Pennington", by Don DeCocco. Valerie Kwasnie was "Charlotte Manning", a faded actress, who was hired by Miss Stanley to help receive Mr. Weaver.

Director was Ann Kerr who was assisted by Connie Rayman and general supervisor of plays was Miss Onda.

Helping behind the scene was a stage crew composed of Vernon Gwosdz, Bill Laddell, Raymond Carson, Dennis Castellano, Ello Peragotti, John Michalsky, John Macdonald and Andy Grubisich.

The Coleman High School is to be complimented for this fine presentation which shows that Coleman students are receiving well-rounded education.

Tall Tale From Alberta

You couldn't tell at the funeral whether the recently departed was a rich Alberta rancher or a rich Alberta oilman — all you could tell was that he had been rich.

You know he was rich because he was being buried in his custom-built, power-accessory equipped air conditioned Cadillac. His last request for this unusual burial had been granted, and as this "coffin" was being lowered into the grave a bystander remarked: "Boy! that's what I call livin'!"

● An annual grant of $1,000 is provided by the Alberta Government to the Provincial Handicraft Board for the purpose of furthering the training of Albertans who show unusual promise in handicraft arts. Mrs. A. W. Douglas of Edmonton, chairman of the board, is shown receiving the $1,000.00 cheque from R. B. Moore, deputy minister of the Department of Economic Affairs. Board members looking on are W. H. Kassa, co-ordinator of Cultural Activities for the department, and Miss Frances Archibald, the department's supervisor of handicrafts and visual arts. Each year four scholarships of $250 are awarded. Since 1955 the board has awarded eight scholarships of $250 and three prizes of $200 for the best handicraft entries in the Albertacraft Spring Festival.

(This is first of two columns dealing with memories of Dr. J. B. Ritchie, prominent Regina surgeon, who lived in Alberta at the close of the First Great War . . . and it's a cinch he'll never forget it.)

REGINA—It was a comfortable den and the man seated so comfortably in the big chair before the shelves of books of medical and Canadian history—to each of which he has contributed his share—said, "It was quite a place for a sanatorium."

"There was," continued Dr. J. B. Ritchie, referring to the old sanatorium at Frank "that awful wind coming out of that tunnel they call the Crows Nest Pass, and the nice clean mountain air the patients were supposed to enjoy was full of coal dust."

"Furthermore," he continued, "the patients were supposed to have plenty of rest. Even that was difficult at any hour. Rocks kept tumbling from Turtle Mountain scaring the daylight out of us, and trails that could be heard for miles went by night and day."

There was one thing in the railway's favor, however. The patients got their relaxation and entertainment by sitting on the lawn and waving to the crews.

"The patients could wave at pedestrians on the road, but that wasn't much fun because pedestrians seldom waved back," he laughed. "The citizens of Frank, Blairmore and Coleman thought the san was such a dangerous place they always passed it wearing handkerchiefs over their faces."

Dr. Ritchie was superintendent of the institution which had been built privately as a place where arthritic patients went for sulphur baths in tubs, of galvanized iron, six feet long and three feet wide, in the basement. The government took over the building in 1917 to accommodate returning soldiers—suffering from tuberculosis.

"It was a great place to have a bath and that's about all I can say for it," laughed Dr. Ritchie, son of a Bruce County school teacher, who was rather upset when the boy decided in grade 12 that he had had enough schooling so went to work piling slabs.

In the fall of 1907, slowed by a bout with typhoid fever, the son decided his father was right. An education could lead to a better future than moving great piles of slabs. So young Ritchie went to college in Winnipeg, planning to be a teacher.

After graduation he taught at an Indian reservation in Saskatchewan's Qu'Appelle Valley. A neighbor who was teaching to earn money to continue his medical course, suggested Ritchie should take up medicine. He was in his third year of study when war broke out and his whole class went overseas as bank privates.

He was returned home to complete his studies. In 1916 he re-enlisted with a commission, but instead of going back overseas, as he wanted, he was assigned to a sanatorium near Brandon and then to "this three-storey frame fire trap" at Frank.

Little was known about tuberculosis in those days. Frank, which contributed coal dust to the atmosphere, did not add much to the research, either.

Some authorities thought patients should have plenty of exercise. Others that patients should have rest.

When Dr. Ritchie arrived to find patients who had been climbing mountains and smoking big black cigars were not doing so well, he closed his open mind and adopted a policy of rest and relaxation, as noisy and difficult as it was.

Dr. Ritchie—who would also make trips to Michel, 60 miles over a winding mountain road to help a doctor who had a delightful habit of operating in the middle of the night—was both superintendent and missionary at Frank.

"Once we assured the citizens of the Pass, who were shocked when the patients attended church, that there was no harm in visiting us," he laughed, "they rallied around and those Welsh miners put on some of the best minstrel shows I've ever seen. It was much more relaxing than watching the trains go by."

One day the wind blew in a young officer. He said the army had sent him to maintain discipline. Unfortunately the army had not told him what kind of discipline he was to maintain in a sanatorium. Dr. Ritchie told him to spend his time reading. He said if the building had not been torn down he would be sure the man would still be there, and still reading.

After Dr. A. M. Baker arrived and got over the shock of finding coal dust in samples of saliva, he and Dr. Ritchie worked on plans for the Central Alberta Sanatorium in Calgary. Dr. Ritchie was a great help. He knew exactly what should not be in it.

Dr. Ritchie's last duty at Frank was his happiest. He condemned the building. He was then sent to Calgary to direct a military hospital—it grew to be the Col. Belcher, but instead of peace and quiet he stepped into the influenza epidemic.

Which calls for another visit to the good-humored man in the book-lined den.

C. N. P. Ministerial
Association Holds Meeting

Blairmore - The April meeting of the Crows Nest Pass Ministerial Association was held in Pincher Creek United Church, the ministers' wives meeting at the same time in the Manor.

Rev. R. MacAuley of Coleman, presided, and there were representatives from every town from Fernie to Pincher, Creek. A message of good wishes was sent to Mrs. Osborne, detained at home by illness. Miss F. M. Hodgins conducted the opening worship service, using a meditation taken from a little book called "Through Open Windows" by Miss Rita Snowden. It showed how often the tempter comes to us in the form of friendly seeming advice to take the easy way, and eliminate whatever is harsh or difficult. It is never the way of the Cross.

A resolution was passed expressing approval of the current trend to commute death sentences to life imprisonment in Canada.

Rev. Gilbert Johnson of Fernie, led a discussion on the book "The Catholicity of Protestantism." This was a book compiled by a group of Free Church Leaders in Britain in 1950, at the suggestion of the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher.

It stresses the fact that Protestantism is not a negative denial of errors but a positive witness to the true faith, which has historically been termed the Catholic faith.

That Catholic is a good word is attested by the number of groups claiming it, such as Greek Catholic, Roman Catholic, Anglo-Catholic, old Catholic, etc.

Protestants, without inconsistency, may claim it too, since they have their roots not in the sixteenth century, nor the middle ages but in the first century, as expressed in the Scriptures. The primary tenet of that faith is that the condition of salvation is the personal acceptance of God's free gift of grace, as offered in Jesus Christ.

Love expressed in various good works will follow as the light follows the day, but the latter do not purchase pardon, nor even ratify the covenant. Faith alone is sufficient.

The next meeting will take the form of a picnic at Coleman on June 6th.

Eligible voters, Macleod constituency, 25,306.

Soldiers who voted, 308.

Analysing these results, it is safe to assume that about 3,000 of those who voted Social Credit last June voted Progressive Conservative on March 31st.

It was this switch that decided the election - each vote took one from Social Credit and added one to Progressive Conservative. In addition there were other factors; for instance more people went to the polls on March 31st, and many supported us who had voted for other parties in the previous election. In the Crows Nest Pass, confidence was expressed by the support given us in that region.

I have never been associated with a more efficient and harmonious working group of people than those on the Campaign Committee and in the eleven regions that were set up in the Macleod riding.

There was a job for everyone to do, and when the efforts of all were added together it spelled "Victory".

The work of these regional organizations is to continue, and it is the privilege of each poll captain between elections to keep his region informed. Your Member will look to the regional association, as well as to individuals, for advice and guidance on federal matters.

In conclusion, may I take this opportunity of most earnestly thanking you personally for your part in making our overwhelming majority possible. Your effort in our riding helped to put us over the top, and I am most grateful to you for your assistance.

Yours very sincerely,
LAWRENCE E. KINDT.Alberta Federation of

The 27th annual convention of the Alberta Federation of Home and School Associations will feature "Progress - Service - Co-operation" when it meets in Edmonton on May 7, 8 and 9 at Convocation hall at the University of Alberta.

Delegates from 580 associations from every corner of the province, representing a membership of 31,000 will gather to consider 35 resolutions on a wide variety of subjects. The largest number of resolutions have been sent in by rural locals and cover many topics ranging from teachers' salary scales, teachers' duties, curriculum, educational grants, teacher training and vocational guidance.

The first day of the convention, Wednesday, will feature the official opening. It will be "Parent Education Day" and, following an address on the "Meaning and Purpose of Parent Education," Mrs. J. G. Cameron of Calgary, will take charge of the morning discussion. Rev. R. T. Norrhop of Irbicoma, will chair consideration of resolutions on parent education.

Thursday, May 8th, has been titled "School Education Day" and Dr. Walter Johns, vice-president of the University of Alberta, will be the featured speaker at the public meeting in the evening. Topic of his address is "Quest for the Best in Education."

Mr. R. H. Jeacock of Lethbridge, vice-president of the Alberta Federation, will chair the final day of the convention "Community Influences Day".

The annual banquet will be held on Friday evening, May 9th, in the Athabasca Hall, Grant McEwan of Calgary M.L.A., and well known authority on western affairs, who will be speaker, has chosen "Quest for the Best in Community Influences" as his subject.

Edmonton Meeting on Traffic Safety

Standardization of provincial legislation governing school buses, the effectiveness of apparatus for alcohol tests in traffic cases and the need for an increase in traffic enforcement personnel will be among the subjects before the Canadian Highway Safety Conference's national meeting in Edmonton May 5, 6 and 7.

More than 400 people are expected to attend. General chairman will be the Hon. Gordon Taylor, Alberta Minister of Highways.

Plenary and committee sessions will examine the progress in the development of a Signs Manual, started a year ago. This manual is expected to facilitate the standardization of traffic signs and signals in all provinces. Specific subjects to be dealt with will include standardization of provincial regulations concerning school buses - their size, color, maintenance use on the highway and the capability of their drivers.

The significance of alcohol in connection with road traffic will be examined, and the effectiveness of alcohol testing apparatus in court will be evaluated. The Conference's committee on laws and enforcement will probe the need for more trained traffic enforcement personnel. This need, it is claimed, follows the increasing traffic congestion and its resultant increase in highway hazards, in both urban and rural areas.

During this meeting the Conference will present its annual citation awards to nearly 80 Canadian communities with at least a year without a traffic fatality. The Carol Lane Awards, won by women's organizations for outstanding highway safety activities, will also be presented.

Campaign Down
Reports Show

With 200 points conducting Red Cross campaigns in Alberta still to be heard from, returns to date show total receipts down $51,226 from 1957 returns.

Out of 345 country districts conducting campaigns reports have been received from 145. Of these 77 have completed their canvass and 50 have reached or exceeded their 1957 returns.

Total returns to date amount to $337,485, 62 per cent of the $539,700 quota. At the same date last year 72 per cent of a $537,500 quota had been received with returns of $386,712.

Latest returns show contributions of $111,496 from Calgary; $126,092 from Edmonton; $64,510 from southern Alberta points; donations of $33,468 from northern points and direct donations of $1917.

Scouts To Hold
Jamboree

More than 1550 Boy Scouts from Alberta and the North West Territories will attend the Second Alberta Boy Scout Jamboree from July 5 to 12 inclusive. This was announced today by J. A. W. Blake, Calgary, jamboree chairman.

The campsite is in the picturesque Hillsdale Plains region of Banff National Park - in the shadows of Mount Eisenhower about 12 miles west of Banff on the old Lake Louise highway. All boys attending the jamboree must be second class Scouts by May 31.

"Looking Ahead" is the theme of the jamboree which will feature Scouting survival camping. While spending a week under canvas, the Scouts will be afforded the opportunity to participate in many beneficial activities such as demonstrations, Scout skillday, tours, hikes, and morning swims.

The jamboree will be divided into four sub-camps and a headquarters which will be named in honor of the last five Alberta provincial commissioners. The former commissioners were: Dr. G. H. Macdonald, 1923-1932; Hon. Lt.-Col. J. H. Woods, 1932-1940; W. J. Dick, 1940-1942; F. Foulds, 1942; and N. E. Tanner, 1945-1953. Mr. Tanner is the only living member of the group.

In addition to jamboree committee chairman Blake, following are the other committee heads - C. S. Martin, Macleod, camp chief; K. Kamm, Medicine Hat, deputy chief; G. O. Bell, Calgary, services; and R. M. Hyland, Calgary, activities.

Road accidents
quite often fault of pedestrians

Each week in Canada, 150 pedestrians are killed and as many as 150 injured when struck by automobiles, according to the All Canada Insurance Federation.

1 - When walking on highways or streets without sidewalks, keep to the left facing traffic.

2 - Wear light colored clothing and carry a flashlight when walking on dark roads and highways at night. Even carrying a handkerchief helps motorists to see you.

3 - Do not wear hood or high collars which obscure vision.

4 - Obey traffic lights. They are meant for pedestrians as well as motorists.

5 - Cross streets only at crosswalks; don't jaywalk.

6 - Go to the sidewalk when leaving buses or street cars, don't cross in front of or behind the vehicle.

7 - Consider the motorists' problems. It takes a car much longer to stop than it does a pedestrian.

8 - Teach children proper safety rules and set a good example yourself.

In Quebec during 1957 a total of 353,600 kilowatts of new hydroelectric capacity was placed in service.
